

The IVO, among the 50 best cancer hospitals in the world for Newsweek magazine

- ❑ The Valencian Institute of Oncology Foundation (IVO) is ranked 48th among the best specialized hospitals in the world in oncology, according to the World's Best Specialized Hospitals 2021 ranking, published by Newsweek magazine.

The Valencian Institute of Oncology Foundation (IVO) has been recognized as one of the best cancer hospitals in the world according to the World's Best Specialized Hospitals 2021 classification, prepared by Newsweek, a renowned American news weekly with international dissemination.

In a selection in which international experts have analyzed oncology services from among the 200 best hospitals in the world, the IVO has been ranked number 48.

The classification has been made from online surveys conducted with more than 40,000 doctors, hospital directors and other health professionals, who have voted within their specialties.